BIOGRAPHY

Tonika Lewis Johnson is a photographer/visual artist and life-long resident of Chicago's South Side neighborhood of Englewood. In 2010, she helped co-found Resident Association of Greater Englewood (R.A.G.E), whose mission is to "mobilize people and resources to force positive change in Englewood through solution-based approaches." Within her artistic practice, Tonika often explores urban segregation and documents the nuance and richness of the black community. As a trained photojournalist and teaching artist, she has been engaged in building an artistic legacy that gained citywide recognition in the last two years. She was featured in Chicago Magazine as a 2017 Chicagoan of the Year for her photography of Englewood's everyday beauty, countering its pervasive media coverage of poverty and crime. Her Englewood-based photography projects "From the INside," and "Everyday Rituals," were exhibited at Rootwork Gallery in Pilsen, the Chicago Cultural Center, the Harold Washington Library Center and at Loyola University's Museum of Art (LUMA). Her current ongoing project, Folded Map, visually investigates disparities among Chicago residents while bringing them together to have a conversation, was also exhibited at LUMA last year. She transformed this project into an advocacy and policy-influencing tool that invites audiences to open a dialogue and question how we are all socially impacted by racial and institutional conditions that segregate the city. Most recently, she was named one of Field Foundation's 2019 Leaders for a New Chicago.

- 2020 – We, Women – As an invited photographer to the national "We, Women," social impact photography art project, Tonika will photograph and interview additional "Map Twins," for her Folded Map project and host a large-scale, public projection of the video and photographs in Englewood, her home neighborhood on Chicago's South Side. Through open dialogue, the projection will invite audiences to question how they are personally and socially impacted by their city's systemic inequity.

- 2019 (April 16) - *Ain't You Heard – What Happens to A Dream Deferred was an evening of storytelling through performances, curated large-scale projections, and memories collected at Woods Academy, one of the 16 schools closed in Englewood since 2002. Inspired by Langston Hughes' poem, Tonika and Paola Aguirre organized the event in partnership with Resident Association of Greater Englewood, Borderless Studio, and Creative Grounds. It included curated visual projections depicting Black life during the Great Migration through historic photos of Chicago and the South; a "memory station" asking participants to share their stories related to their journey and belonging in Chicago, plus performances by Tonika and rapper Roy Kinsey. The event was supported by the curators of Dimensions of Citizenship: Architecture and Belonging from the Body to the Cosmos, the official U.S. entry at the recently concluded 16th International Architecture Exhibition of the Venice Biennale.

- 2018 (September 14) – *Englewood Pop-Up Projection Party

On Friday, September 14, during and after Englewood's 2nd Critical Mass night bike ride, Roll N Peace DaRemix, Tonika Johnson hosted a large scale, site specific projection party in Englewood to celebrate Black culture on Chicago's South Side in partnership with Blvck Vrchives, Borderless Studio, and Exposure for Concerned Black Photographers. The video montage, curated by Tonika, included old family photographs from Englewood residents and historic images of neighboring south side communities.

PROFESSIONAL EMPLOYMENT

2017 – Oct. 2018

Program Manager for Resident Assc. Of Greater Englewood (R.A.G.E.)

The Resident Association of Greater Englewood (R.A.G.E.) is a grassroots organization whose guiding principle is that the key to improving Englewood is activating more residents to be involved with positive change. Today, R.A.G.E. boasts nearly 300 members however, in November 2010, R.A.G.E. was founded by a collective of 13 residents with Asiaha Butler at the helm. R.A.G.E.’s overarching mission is to convene residents, Englewood’s public officials, business owners, and other organizations to strategize, build their power, promote healing, create community solidarity and tangible solutions while actively serving as a credible source for critical information about Englewood.

2013 - 2017

Program Manager for Growing Home, Inc.

Growing Home is an organic urban farm in Englewood that offers 25 hours per week of paid on-the-job experience and job-readiness training plus the support to conquer issues like criminal records, medical needs, child-care, and housing. Each year Growing Home, Inc. start 40+ people on the path to self-sufficiency and uses their unique model to impact neighborhoods with the greatest need. That’s why its farms are located in Englewood, a community on the South side of Chicago that has been under-served for decades and has extremely high rates of unemployment and poverty, hundreds of acres of vacant lots, and a distinct lack of healthy food choices.

2011 - 2012

Co-Founder & Lead Teacher

MEDIA-N-MOTION (MNM) is free, 8 week, youth journalism program for youth in Englewood. During two, two-hour sessions each week for two months, Media-N-Motion created and implemented a news writing & reporting curriculum for three cohorts of 15 middle to high-school students. MNM utilized a variety of effective and professional teaching techniques and methods to assist students in attaining the performance objectives of Media-N-Motion. MNM's culminating project included a newsletter, written by the youth and a student showcase. Reporter Joel Hood wrote a feature article about Media-N-Motion in the March 02, 2011 issue of the Chicago Tribune titled "Journalism Program : A Study Of Perceptions by Joel Hood.

2010 - Present
